Sean F. Fahy Joins the Environmental and Energy Law Firm of Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP

Fahy

Philadelphia, PA (March 17, 2025) – Manko, Gold, Katcher & Fox, LLP (MGKF), an environmental, litigation, energy, and land use law firm is pleased to announce that Sean Fahy has joined the firm as a litigation associate. He was formerly an attorney advisor in the Office of Civil Enforcement at the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in Washington, D.C. During his time at EPA, Sean assisted with the enforcement of nationally significant Clean Water Act (CWA) and Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) cases including through the preparation of litigation and enforcement related documentation such as complaints, requests for production, and referrals to the Department of Justice.

As a law student, he offered part-time litigation support at the Delaware Riverkeeper Network related to claims under the Pennsylvania's Hazardous Sites Cleanup Act and Clean Streams Law. He also served as a summer clerk for Earthjustice where he researched and drafted memoranda on a variety of legal issues including Pennsylvania air emission trading programs, Department of Energy rulemaking, federal preemption, and Illinois Pollution Board rulemaking authority.

Sean graduated magna cum laude from Drexel University Thomas R. Kline School of Law, served as the President of the Environmental Law Society, and earned the Robert P. Coverdell Fellowship Peace Corps Scholarship. After law school, Sean served as a law clerk for the Superior Court of New Jersey with Presiding Judge Haekyoung Suh where he researched, analyzed and drafted orders and motions for reconsideration.

Prior to law school, Sean was a Peace Corps volunteer in Botswana where he taught life skills to students at a junior secondary school. Outside the office, Sean enjoys playing soccer and hiking with his dog.
